THE PRINCESS OF GIRONA FOUNDATION INTERNATIONAL AWARD

The Princess of Girona Foundation presents its International Award with the aim of recognising the professional and personal career of young people in any part of the world who stand out for their work, their merits and their exemplarity. The impact must always be considered in its broadest dimension, in that their contributions extend and/or are known on an international level.

This global award highlights the capacity for achievement and self-improvement of young people from all over the world in the development of projects — especially when they have involved difficulty or risk— demonstrating that they have the power to influence, in a creative way, positive changes in society and that they are inspiring role models for other young people.

WHO CAN PRESENT NOMINATIONS?

Nominations for the Princess of Girona Foundation International Award can be made by:

- > Winners of previous editions of the Foundation's Awards in any of the categories, as long as they are not also members of the jury for this International category.
- > Trustees, members of the Advisory Council and members of the juries for the Princess of Girona Foundation Awards.
- > Spanish embassies and consulates abroad.
- > Diplomatic representatives in Spain.
- > Higher education institutions.
- > People and institutions invited by the Princess of Girona Foundation.

Nominations can be endorsed by more than one person or institution – see page 2 'Endorsements'.

This award is specifically designed for non-Spanish nationals who carry out their professional activity outside Spain.

Candidates must:

- > Be between 16 and 35 years old before the deadline for presenting nominations, i.e. candidates born between 1 January 1988 and 30 November 2007.

HOW, WHEN AND WHERE CAN ENTRIES BE SUBMITTED?

Before 23:59h on 30 November 2023.

A video tutorial with all the necessary instructions can be found at the following link: www.fpdgi.org

Candidacy entries will only be considered valid if they are submitted using the form available on the website: www.fpdgi.org

This is a global award aimed at recognising young people not living in Spain. Young Spaniards (including those with dual citizenship) and those resident in Spain can present their candidacies in the individual categories of the FPdGi Awards: Social, Business, Arts and Literature and Scientific Research.

The jury meetings will take place in the first half of 2024.

INTERNATIONAL AWARD

The Princess of Girona International Award recognises the professional and personal careers of young people in any part of the world who stand out for their work, actions, merits, and exemplarity. The impact must always be considered in its broadest dimension, in that their contributions extend and/or are known on an international level.

EVALUATION CRITERIA

1. EXEMPLARITY (This is an exclusionary criterion)

- > We are seeking a candidate who has demonstrated an extraordinary capacity for leadership and influence.
- > They must be an inspiration to other young people for their values and ethical behaviour, as well as their tolerant nature and creativity.
- > The candidate must stand out for their capacity for achievement and self-improvement in the development of projects, especially when they have involved difficulty or risk.

2. DIFFERENTIATION

- > The candidate's career should have distinctive characteristics based on their talent, work, actions or projects, or their capacity to overcome great difficulties.

3. IMPACT

- > The candidate must stand out for their renown and innovative character, reflected in their work and projects which have the capacity to provide tangible and significant achievements.
- > They must lead the way in the continuous search for excellence and stand out for their values in sustainability, social impact, and equal opportunities.
- > The impact must always be considered in its broadest dimension, in that their contributions extend and/or are known on an international level.

4. GLOBALITY

- > A positive view will be taken of projects and actions that have demonstrated multifunctional or global influence, either as recognition of the work carried out, or the application of the knowledge developed.

PRESENTATION OF NOMINATIONS

Nominations can be submitted any time before 23:59h on 30 November 2023. Entries will only be accepted as valid if submitted using the Princess of Girona International Award nomination form available from the website www.fpdgi.org

When submitting the nomination form, people nominating the candidates must obtain prior acceptance of these rules and a guarantee will full indemnity for the Foundation, of the accuracy of the information included in the entry, as well as the ownership and exploitation rights vis-a-vis third parties of all graphic materials, trade names and other information provided in the entry form, which the Princess of Girona Foundation may use to publicise the awards or award winners.

ENDORSEMENTS

Nominations can be accompanied by additional endorsements in supporting letters

These endorsements in the form of a supporting letter can be written by those in charge of representative organisations and institutions such as embassies and consulates, diplomatic representatives in Spain, universities, local councils, and other public and private institutions of recognised prestige. It is possible to endorse more than one candidate.

These letters should be attached as a file to the nomination form

INFORMATION THAT WILL FORM PART OF THE EVALUATION

The nomination form must be completed in English. A courtesy translation will accompany any document provided in a different language (including Spanish) into English.

The jury will not take into consideration any information other than that presented in the nomination form or attached to it when it is submitted.

The Foundation may request additional information from the entities or people nominating candidates if necessary.

The presentation of a candidacy nomination form automatically implies full acceptance of these conditions of entry by the nominating person or entity and the candidate. The candidate can do this when the form is submitted or, if applicable, on winning the award. Acceptance of these conditions is an essential requirement for receiving the award.

The people or entities presenting candidates and the winning candidates grant their express consent for the publication of the information included in the entry form, including their photographs, as well as images of the project if chosen as winners.

INFORMATION INCLUDED IN THE FORM AND PERSONAL DATA

Pursuant to the provisions of the General Data Protection Regulation (UE) 2016/679, we hereby inform you that we will process your data solely for the candidate selection processes performed by the organisation. This process requires your express consent to publish the information provided on the application form, including your photograph, and the presentation video and images of the project if it is one of the prize-winners. The Princess of Girona Foundation reserves the right to disseminate information related with the prizewinners in each of the categories, in whatever manner it considers appropriate. We inform, you that we will treat your data only for the Princess of Girona International Award Category selection processes; these will not be assigned to third parties, except on the basis of their consent. We also inform you of the possibility of exercising the following rights concerning your personal data: right of access, rectification, erasure (right to be forgotten), restriction, objection, portability, and right to withdraw consent after it has been given. To exercise these rights, you can send an email to: info@fpdgi.org, or send a letter by post to the Princess of Girona Foundation, c/ Juli Garreta, 1, 1r E, 17002 GIRONA. CONSENT

We will process your data solely for the candidate selection processes carried out by the organisation. Check the box below to accept this purpose. Bear in mind that it is necessary to process your data in order to carry out the selection. If you do NOT consent to processing, this selection will cease to be feasible..

JURY FOR THE AWARDS

The Princess of Girona Awards have a specific international jury for this award, composed of between five and eight members chosen for serving on the Princess of Girona Foundation Advisory Council, or as external experts, as well as winners of previous editions of the Princess of Girona Awards in any of the categories.

The ultimate decision regarding the winning candidate will be taken by simple majority. This must be supported by solid arguments and will be considered final.

Members of the jury cannot endorse candidates for this award. In the event of any other conflict of interests that may arise in relation to any member of the jury, this person will abstain from debating and voting.

The jury may decide not to award the prize if it considers that none of the candidates nominated meet the requirements or aims of the award.

The jury will interpret and supplement the conditions of entry for this award to cover any gaps or resolve any issues that may arise.

The vote of each member of the jury may not be delegated and must be cast in person at the moment the vote is held.

The jury, when encountering candidates of equal merit, will prioritize the youngest candidate with the most potential for development in the future.

The jury will consider that the candidates' actions and projects are long-term and possible to reproduce in other ways and/or geographies.

SPECIFIC CONDITIONS FOR THE WINNERS

Attendance at the award ceremony cannot be delegated.

The award winner agrees to participate in the communication actions organised by the Foundation in connection with the award.

The award winner will act as an Ambassador of the Foundation, connecting with a generation of youth in their twenties and becoming a reference for them.

AWARD CEREMONY

The date of the award ceremony will be announced at the appropriate time.

The award consists of a reproduction of a work by the Spanish contemporary artist Juan Zamora, Princess of Girona 2017 Award, and a cash prize of €20,000.
